Bicycle Safety Check Day

Free Student Bicycle Check!
Wednesday, May 20 | 3:45 p.m. – 4:45 p.m.
Place: Behind the School Gym

Do your bicycle brakes make a strange sound, or is your front light dim? Local bike shop mechanics will check brakes, tires, and lights for free! Students who ride bicycles to school must join before club practice. If you walk to school, you don't need to come. Rain date: May 27.

Bicycle Safety Check Day — Questions

(26) Who will check the students' bicycles?

1 Fifth-grade students.

2 Local bike shop mechanics.

3 Bus drivers.

4 Math teachers.

(27) When will the check be held if it rains on May 20?

1 Inside the library.

2 On May 19.

3 On May 27.

4 At seven a.m.

Preparing for the Choir Contest

From: Ms. Fujita
To: Choir Club Members
Subject: Sunday's bus schedule and throat care

Hello everyone,
Our city choir contest is finally this Sunday, August 2! Our chartered bus leaves the school gate at 8:00 a.m. sharp. Please eat breakfast at home and wear your white blouse or shirt with navy skirt or trousers.

The concert hall's air conditioning is quite dry, so bring a bottle of plain water or warm tea. Avoid cold fizzy drinks before we sing—they can make you burp on stage! Parents may take photos in the lobby after our turn, not inside the hall.

Let's enjoy singing together!
Ms. Fujita

Preparing for the Choir Contest — Questions

(28) What time will the chartered bus leave the school gate on Sunday?

1 At 8:00 a.m.

2 At 7:00 a.m.

3 At noon.

4 At 2:00 p.m.

(29) Why should members avoid cold fizzy drinks before singing?

1 Water is sold out in August.

2 They can make singers burp on stage.

3 The bus driver dislikes bottles.

4 They stain white shirts blue.

(30) Where may parents take photos?

1 In the lobby after the club finishes singing.

2 Inside the hall during the song.

3 On the stage with the judges.

4 Nowhere in the building.

Repairing Grandfather's Wooden Clock

On the wall of thirteen-year-old Shun's living room hung an old octagonal wooden clock that had belonged to his great-grandfather. Every hour, its brass pendulum used to chime softly, until one winter morning the hands stopped at ten-fifteen.

Shun's mother thought they would have to throw it away because modern battery shops didn't fix wind-up clocks. That Saturday, however, Shun spotted a tiny shop near the shotengai arcade with a hand-painted sign: "Takahashi Watch & Clock Repair."

Inside, seventy-five-year-old Mr. Takahashi opened the back panel with a small screwdriver and smiled. "Nothing is broken," he told Shun. "Old oil inside the gears simply dried up in the cold." Letting Shun watch through a magnifying glass, he cleaned each brass wheel with a soft brush and added two tiny drops of fresh clock oil.

When the warm chime rang out again at home that evening, Shun's grandfather clapped with joy—and Shun decided he wanted to learn how mechanical things work too.

Repairing Grandfather's Wooden Clock — Questions

(31) Why did Shun's mother think they might have to throw the old clock away?

1 It fell off the wall and broke into ten pieces.

2 They were moving to a smaller house.

3 Nobody in the family liked its chime.

4 Modern battery shops did not repair wind-up clocks.

(32) Where did Shun find Mr. Takahashi's repair shop?

1 Next to his school gym.

2 Inside a big department store.

3 Near the shotengai shopping arcade.

4 On an island far away.

(33) What had caused the clock hands to stop at ten-fifteen?

1 Three brass wheels were missing.

2 Old oil inside the gears had dried up in the cold.

3 A mouse was sleeping inside the clock.

4 Its battery ran out of power.

(34) How did Mr. Takahashi fix the clock while Shun watched?

1 He replaced the wooden frame with plastic.

2 He put two new batteries inside.

3 He painted the hands bright red.

4 He cleaned each brass wheel with a brush and added fresh clock oil.

(35) How did the experience inspire Shun at the end of the story?

1 He became interested in learning how mechanical things work.

2 He decided to throw away his wristwatch.

3 He wanted to become a professional chef.

4 He stopped waking up in winter.
