Making Snow Lanterns Together

From: Uncle Shinji
To: Mao
Subject: Building mini kamakura lanterns next Saturday!

Hi Mao,
We finally got fifty centimeters of fresh powder snow here in Akita! I'm so excited that you and your parents are visiting us next weekend.

On Saturday evening before dinner, let's build five mini snow lanterns—called mini kamakura—along our front path and put small LED candles inside them. You can use your cousin's plastic bucket to pack the snow, so you don't need to bring tools—just pack waterproof snow gloves and thick wool socks!

See you at Akita Station,
Uncle Shinji

Making Snow Lanterns Together — Questions

(28) What do Uncle Shinji and Mao plan to make on Saturday evening?

1 Hot apple pies at Akita Station.

2 A giant snowman on the school roof.

3 Five mini snow lanterns with LED candles inside.

4 Wooden sleds for a race.

(29) Why doesn't Mao need to bring tools to pack the snow?

1 Snow lanterns buy themselves at a shop.

2 It will melt before Saturday.

3 Her father is bringing a snow truck.

4 She can use her cousin's plastic bucket.

(30) What does Uncle Shinji tell Mao to pack?

1 Real wax candles and matches.

2 A swimsuit and sunglasses.

3 Waterproof snow gloves and thick wool socks.

4 Three plastic buckets.

The Bookshop Cat's Bookmark

Near fourteen-year-old Nanami's cram school stood an old secondhand bookshop called Kusunoki Books. Whenever Nanami had twenty minutes before her evening math class, she liked browsing its tall wooden shelves—especially because a plump orange cat named Kinako often napped on a cushion beside the cash register.

One rainy Tuesday, Nanami bought a mystery novel about a detective on a train. When the owner, Mrs. Hori, handed her the paper-wrapped book, she slipped a handmade bookmark inside. On it was a small rubber-stamp picture of Kinako wearing round glasses and reading!

"My granddaughter carved that eraser stamp for our shop's fiftieth anniversary this month," Mrs. Hori explained proudly. "There are four seasonal Kinako designs—spring cherry blossoms, summer watermelon, autumn acorns, and winter kotatsu."

Nanami loved the autumn acorn bookmark so much that she finished the mystery novel in four days—and brought her best friend Aoi to Kusunoki Books the very next week.

The Bookshop Cat's Bookmark — Questions

(31) When did Nanami like visiting Kusunoki Books?

1 Only once a year on New Year's Day.

2 When she had twenty minutes before her evening math class.

3 During school lunch break.

4 At six o'clock every Sunday morning.

(32) Who is Kinako?

1 A plump orange cat that naps beside the shop's register.

2 Nanami's math teacher at cram school.

3 The detective in the mystery novel.

4 Nanami's younger sister.

(33) Who made the rubber stamp used on the bookmark?

1 Nanami's best friend Aoi.

2 A train conductor.

3 A famous mystery writer.

4 Mrs. Hori's granddaughter.

(34) Why was the special bookmark created this month?

1 To advertise a new supermarket.

2 To celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Kusunoki Books.

3 Because the shop was moving to another city.

4 Because Kinako won a cat contest on TV.

(35) What did Nanami do the week after receiving the autumn bookmark?

1 She adopted three kittens from Mrs. Hori.

2 She carved four eraser stamps for her math teacher.

3 She finished her novel quickly and brought her friend Aoi to the shop.

4 She stopped going to cram school.
