Returning a Lost Keychain

From: Sora
To: Haruna
Subject: Found your dolphin keychain!

Hi Haruna,
After you went home from our study session at my house today, my little brother found a silver dolphin keychain under the sofa cushion. Remember you got it at the aquarium in Okinawa last summer? I was so glad it wasn't lost on the street!

I put it in a small zip bag inside my schoolbag so I won't forget it. Tomorrow morning, I have library duty before homeroom, so come by the library counter around 8:10 a.m. and I'll hand it to you.

See you tomorrow,
Sora

Returning a Lost Keychain — Questions

1 Sora's little brother.

2 Haruna.

3 A librarian.

4 An aquarium worker.

(29) Where did Haruna get the keychain last summer?

1 At a bookstore near school.

2 At an aquarium in Okinawa.

3 From Sora's mother.

4 On a school ski trip.

(30) Where will Sora give the keychain back tomorrow morning?

1 At the school library counter.

2 At the bus stop.

3 Under the sofa.

4 In the gym.

The Morning Bread Delivery

Every Saturday at seven in the morning, thirteen-year-old Tsubasa rides his bicycle to his uncle's small bakery, Mugi-no-Ie. While most of his classmates are still asleep, Tsubasa helps pack warm rolls and walnut bread into paper bags for older neighbors who have trouble walking up the steep hill to the shop.

Tsubasa started helping six months ago after Mrs. Ota, an eighty-two-year-old woman living next door to his family, hurt her ankle. When Tsubasa brought her fresh bread from his uncle's shop, she smiled and said the smell of warm bread made her whole weekend brighter. Hearing that, Tsubasa's uncle decided to start a free Saturday bicycle delivery for six elderly households in the town.

Each stop takes only two or three minutes, yet Tsubasa enjoys the short chats at the front doors. Mr. Fujita often tells him stories about how the town looked fifty years ago, and Mrs. Ota sometimes gives him tangerines from her garden.

When Tsubasa returns to the bakery at eight o'clock, his uncle always rewards him with a hot cheese bun straight from the oven.

The Morning Bread Delivery — Questions

(31) Why is it hard for some older neighbors to visit Mugi-no-Ie by themselves?

1 The bakery opens only at midnight.

2 Buses do not run in their prefecture.

3 The shop is on an island with no bridge.

4 They have to walk up a steep hill to reach the shop.

(32) What happened six months ago that led to the delivery service?

1 Tsubasa's uncle bought a truck.

2 Tsubasa won a bicycle race.

3 A neighbor named Mrs. Ota hurt her ankle.

4 A new supermarket closed down.

(33) How many households receive the Saturday bicycle delivery?

1 Two.

2 Six.

3 Thirteen.

4 Fifty.

(34) What does Mr. Fujita often do when Tsubasa delivers bread?

1 He teaches Tsubasa how to bake rolls.

2 He fixes Tsubasa's bicycle.

3 He gives Tsubasa cheese buns.

4 He tells stories about the town fifty years ago.

(35) What does Tsubasa get when he returns to the bakery at eight o'clock?

1 A hot cheese bun from his uncle.

2 A bag of tangerines from his uncle.

3 Two thousand yen.

4 A new helmet.
