Autumn Bird-Watching Morning Walk

GREEN LAKE NATURE PARK
Date: Sunday, October 18 (7:00 a.m. – 9:00 a.m.)
Meeting Spot: North Wooden Pier
Fee: 200 yen per person (free for students under 15)

October is the best season to watch wild ducks and swans arriving at Green Lake from the north! Park rangers will guide visitors quietly along the reed trail and explain how migrating birds find food before winter.

Ten pairs of binoculars are available to borrow at no extra cost, reserved on a first-come, first-served basis at the pier from 6:45 a.m. Please avoid wearing bright red or neon jackets, because sudden bright colors can frighten the birds away.

(21) How can visitors borrow a pair of binoculars for the walk?

1 By paying 1,000 yen online a month ahead.

2 By wearing a bright neon jacket to the park.

3 By arriving early at the pier from 6:45 a.m., as only ten pairs are lent out.

4 By bringing a letter from their science teacher.

(22) Why are visitors asked NOT to wear bright red or neon jackets?

1 Those colors attract mosquitoes near the lake.

2 Bright colors may scare the wild birds away.

3 Only park rangers wear neon red uniforms.

4 The reed trail is closed to people wearing jackets.

From: Leo
To: Haruka
Subject: Friday's costume check in the sewing room

Hi Haruka,
Thank you for finishing the cardboard castle wall for our drama club play! Everything on the stage is coming together nicely for next Saturday's performance.

Ms. Tanabe stopped by after fifth period today with an update about our costumes. Her aunt runs a tailor shop near the station and offered to adjust the length of the five velvet cloaks for our main actors at no charge. However, two members need to bring the cloaks to the sewing room after school tomorrow (Friday) so Ms. Tanabe can measure everyone's shoulder width before 4:40 p.m.

I have a dental checkup at 4:15 p.m. tomorrow, so I have to leave school right after homeroom. Could you unlock the club storage closet with Daiki and carry the garment bag to the sewing room? Ms. Tanabe left the closet key with the school office clerk.

See you tomorrow morning,
Leo

Measuring Costumes for the Drama Club　設問 (23)〜(25)

(23) What did Haruka already finish making for the drama club play?

1 Posters for a tailor shop near the station.

2 Five velvet cloaks for the main actors.

3 A new key for the club storage closet.

4 A cardboard castle wall for the stage.

(24) Why cannot Leo bring the cloaks to the sewing room tomorrow afternoon?

1 He has to help Ms. Tanabe's aunt at the tailor shop all evening.

2 Daiki asked him to paint the stage floor until 5:00 p.m.

3 He forgot where the sewing room is located.

4 He has a dental checkup at 4:15 p.m. and must leave after homeroom.

(25) Where can Haruka and Daiki get the key to the club storage closet?

1 From the clerk at the school office.

2 From the main actors before first period.

3 Inside the garment bag in Classroom 2B.

4 At the dental clinic near the station.

The Town Bench Notebook

Near the small post office in Cedar Hill stood a long wooden bench under an apricot tree. Every afternoon, older residents rested there with shopping bags, and high school students waited nearby for the hillside bus. Yet the two groups rarely spoke to each other beyond a polite nod.

One rainy Sunday in April, a retired carpenter named Mr. Toda attached a small waterproof wooden box to the arm of the bench. Inside, he placed a thick notebook with a green cover and a pencil tied to a string. On the first page, he wrote: "Please leave a question, a local memory, or a small tip for the next person who sits here."

For the first few days, the pages stayed blank. Then a ninth-grade boy named Shun wrote, "Does anyone know how to keep tomato plants from falling over in strong wind?" The next afternoon, Shun opened the notebook and found a neat drawing of bamboo stakes tied in a triangle, signed by "Mrs. Kimura, three streets east." Below that, another student asked what Cedar Hill looked like before the supermarket was built, and three longtime residents filled two pages with stories about the old outdoor fish market.

By summer, the green notebook was full, and Mr. Toda had to add a second volume. More importantly, people sitting on the bench began recognizing handwriting and starting real conversations, sharing gardening advice, school concert dates, and even fresh apricots from the tree overhead.

3C The Town Bench Notebook　設問 (26)〜(30)

(26) What was true about the older residents and students at the bench before April?

1 They often sat near each other but seldom talked together.

2 They met every Sunday to sell fresh fish.

3 They built the post office together ten years ago.

4 They argued every afternoon about bus seats.

(27) What did Mr. Toda put inside the waterproof wooden box?

1 Tools for repairing broken bicycles.

2 A green-covered notebook and a pencil on a string.

3 Seeds for growing apricot trees.

4 Free bus tickets for high school students.

(28) How did Mrs. Kimura help Shun through the notebook?

1 She drew how to support tomato plants with bamboo stakes.

2 She bought tomatoes for him at the new supermarket.

3 She drove him up the hillside in her car.

4 She lent him an umbrella on a rainy Sunday.

(29) What did longtime residents write about in response to another student's question?

1 Schedules for summer swimming lessons.

2 Rules for riding bicycles on the sidewalk.

3 How to apply for a job at the post office.

4 Memories of the old outdoor fish market that used to be in town.

(30) What had changed at the bench by summer?

1 The post office removed the bench to build a parking lot.

2 Nobody wrote in the notebook after April.

3 People began talking directly and sharing tips and local news.

4 The apricot tree was cut down because of strong wind.
